

Your ONE Stop Solution in Graphic Communication

Due to continuing expansion Sign Language are looking to recruit the following positions to assist in our busy production department.

Head print finisher

Duties and responsibilities include overseeing the production and finishing of high quality digitally printed graphics for application, primarily within the vehicle branding market.

This will involve ensuring the department is organised and efficient and liaising directly with the production manager. Bench work will include laminating; trimming; excess vinyl removal (weeding); quality control and careful dispatch.

Trainee vinyl wrappers

Duties and responsibilities include assisting in the application of high quality digitally printed graphics, primarily within the vehicle branding market.

This will involve travelling around the UK working at our customer sites and applying different types of self adhesive vinyls to cars, vans, lorries and bikes.

For all the above roles, experience is an advantage but is not essential as full training will be given. Careful consideration will be given to the right candidates who show a keen attention to detail, are able to work closely with others in a team and have the ability to adapt to a variety of different and challenging situations involving working to tight deadlines.

Candidates will be given an opportunity over time to experience and learn all aspects of production.

If you think you are the right person for one of these challenging roles, we would love to hear from you. Applications should be supported by your CV and covering letter.
